CONSTRUCTION GROUP, LLC

ABOUT US

Centurion is a Design-Build General Contracting firm that provides complete design, permitting, pre-construction and construction services to our clients. Founded in 2011, Centurion's undertaking was to provide these services with unparalleled consistency and unsullied honesty. Our core values of service and gratitude have remained consistent since inception and are the foundation of our success.

These values are also represented in our company name. Traditionally, a Centurion is defined as the commander of a hundred men in a Roman legion army, selected based on merit and strength of will. In Matthew 27: 50-54, the Centurion who was guarding Jesus, though humbled and terrified, found within himself the duty to proclaim the Truth that had been revealed to him about Jesus's identity as the Son of God. We embrace this characterization of the Centurion as a humbled leader with the ability to recognize greatness and to selflessly share these truths with those he encounters.

Centurion's experienced and enthusiastic team of professionals is eager to guide you through the construction process from start to finish, beginning with a realistic understanding of the possibilities and limitations present within the land, building, infrastructure, and budget of your project. Our Estimating and Pre-Construction team work wisely within these boundaries, while actively listening to your concerns, to build the foundation of a trusted partnership based on our understanding of your needs. From here, our in-house design professional creates the clear and accurate drawings, schematics and 3D photo-realistic renderings that breathe life into your project.

Our capable and proactive team of Project Managers work as an extension of your company or organization by fostering an environment of teamwork and making a real effort to understand your business, ensuring that your project is turned over on time, on budget, and with the quality you (and we) expect. With backgrounds and expertise in numerous markets, Centurion's Project Managers and qualified field staff can confidently guide your project to success in all the ways that matter to you.

Centurion's reputation is built on effective, professional, accommodating, and thorough project execution. We pride ourselves on our ability to repeatedly complete sizeable projects on time and on budget. This is accomplished by making purposeful decisions, employing the best people, utilizing the latest technologies, truly partnering with our clients, and taking ownership of the project to guarantee not just success, but excellence.
